THE LAUNCHPAD , which is the Graduation event for the Department of Fashion Management Studies is a platform that provides "Voice" to the students learning based on in-depth research, analysis and development of innovative strategies to address real time business challenges undertaken by them during their Graduation Projects across diverse verticals of Marketing and Retailing, International Business and Entrepreneurship. The event acts like an interlude that marks the culmination of their academic journey and the commencement of their professional career as they embark upon it with a "flair and fortitude" that signifies the "Velocity" and momentum with which they will catalyze the future changes in the dynamic fashion and lifestyle industry.

The showcase, 'Infinite Ideas', seeks to represent how these countless concepts find form in the works done by the students. It shows the range of the work that stretches from retail space design, to the UI/UX for apps and websites, followed by journalism and advertising. The department of Fashion Communication, NIFT Mumbai, presents 'Infinite Ideas' - a journey through the limitless minds of its students, and the designs that blossom within.

DESIGN COLLECTION 2021 & GRADUATION PROJECT 2021

The students of the final semester of Fashion Design may opt for any one of the modules as mentioned below to work on their final project namely Design Collection or Graduation Project.

Design Collection 2021 - This project is the culmination and integration of inputs of different subjects imbibed over 7 semesters ranging from creative exposure and technical competence. The objective is that the collection of garments created in this module should reflect design originality, understanding of the market and trends, wherein the design process combined with knowledge and skills of technical execution and functionality matches benchmarking standards in fashion design education.

Graduation Project 2021 - The final semester student may opt to undertake a Graduation Project (GP) in the organized sector of the apparel industry including export, retail or designer segment. The company would have an in-house design studio, sampling unit and manufacturing unit. The student will identify and liaise with their specific, preferred apparel sector to work for 1 period of 16 weeks and culminate the Graduation Project with a collection of 10-12 garments through the company they have worked for.

Through both the modules the students demonstrate comprehensive learning outcomes through the development of apparel with design concepts of their chosen market/industry/consumer segment.

The students of Fashion Design Department students may choose to work on menswear, women's wear or kids wear in any of the following categories:

Uniform Wear

Casualwear Sports wear

Eveningwear

Indian or Fusion wear

Maternity wear

Children's wear
